New! Montreal multizone region

You can now create VPC clusters in Montreal.

In this MZR, you can only create clusters at version 1.31 and later clusters and can only use Ubuntu 24 work nodes.

Also note that in this MZR, only webhooks that access an in-cluster service work. Webhooks that directly access an external, out of cluster, URL are blocked.

The default installation method for Portworx Enterprise and Portworx Backup is not yet supported for private-only clusters in the Montreal region. Contact Portworx Support if you need to install Portworx Enterprise or Portworx Backup in a private-only cluster in Montreal.

For more information, see Portworx Support.

New! IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service version 1.30.

You can now create or update clusters to Kubernetes version 1.30. With Kubernetes 1.30, you get the latest stable enhancements from the Kubernetes community as well as enhancements to the IBM Cloud product.

IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service version 1.30 Kubernetes certification

IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service version 1.30 is now Kubernetes certified.Important networking changes for IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service VPC clusters created at version 1.30.For more information, see the 1.30 version information and Understanding Secure by Default Cluster VPC Networking.Important changes to the default cluster provisioning behavior for new VPC clusters beginning with version 1.30.

Beginning with version 1.30, there is a new option available at cluster creation time via the UI, CLI, API, and Terraform. This new option manages outbound traffic protection for the cluster. The default behavior is to have outbound traffic protection enabled, which means new version 1.30 VPC clusters won't have access the public internet by default. If your cluster needs access to the public internet, you must specifically include the option (from the UI, CLI, API, and Terraform) to disable outbound traffic protection. Note that you can also disable outbound traffic protection after your cluster is created. You can also selectively allow outbound traffic as needed after your cluster is created. If you provision clusters via automation, make sure to adjust your automation accordingly.

For more information, see the 1.30 version information, Understanding Secure by Default Cluster VPC Networking, and Managing outbound traffic protection in VPC clusters.

Managing outbound traffic protection in new version 1.30 VPC clusters.

With the introduction of Secure by Default Cluster VPC networking in version 1.30 and later clusters, there are several scenarios where you might need to adjust the security group settings for your clusters to allow outbound traffic to certain resources. For more information, see Managing outbound traffic protection in VPC clusters.

IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service version 1.27 is deprecated.

Support for 1.27 ends on 18 September 2024. Update your cluster to at least version 1.28 as soon as possible.

IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service master fix packs.

Master fix packs are applied automatically over the course of several days. You can choose to use the `ibmcloud ks cluster master update` command yourself without waiting for the update automation to apply the patch. Worker node fix packs can be applied by updating or reloading the worker node in classic infrastructure, or replacing the worker node in VPC infrastructure. Review the following change logs for your cluster version.

New! IBM Cloud Kubernetes Service version 1.28.

Master fix pack 1.28.2_1527 and worker node fix pack 1.28.1_1523.For more information, see the 1.28 change log.

Networking changes for VPC clusters 1.28 and later

In version 1.27 and earlier, VPC clusters pull container images from the IBM Cloud Container Registry through a private cloud service endpoint for the Container Registry. For version 1.28 and later, this network path is updated so that images are pulled through a VPE gateway instead of a private service endpoint. For more information, see the 1.28 change log.

Trusted profile updates for Kubernetes clusters version 1.28 and later.

You can now give trusted profiles service level access to your clusters, then use a federated ID, like App ID, to access the cluster at the level assigned in the trusted profile since trusted profile identities are now synced into the cluster RBAC. For more information, see Creating trusted profiles and Logging in with a federated ID.

New! Updated GPU drivers with version 1.28 clusters.

With the release of IBM Cloud Kubernetes Version 1.28, GPU drivers moved to the 500 series version for all GPU worker node flavors.
